Location
Registration takes place at the Koehneke Community Center, located on the northeast side of campus. The University is one block west of Harlem Avenue (IL 43) between Division and Augusta Streets in River Forest, 10 miles west of downtown Chicago. Participants may park in the parking garage on campus.

Housing
Registrants should make their own housing arrangements at a local hotel at least two weeks before the conference. Recommended hotels are listed on the conference website at www.cuchicago.edu/lectures

Graduate and CEU Credit
One semester hour of graduate credit or one Continuing Education Unit (CEU) is available to conference participants at an additional cost of $300 or $10, respectively. For graduate credit, mark the box on the registration form and include the additional $300 in your payment. For CEU credit, fill out the request form which will be included in your registration packet.

Conference Scholarships Available
A limited number of full-conference scholarships are available to first-time participants. To be eligible, registration forms must be received by the early-registration deadline. Scholarships will be awarded in the order the registration forms are received. Any lunches, additional banquet or concert tickets, and graduate or CEU credits are not included in the scholarship. Please mark the appropriate box and include a check for payment of any of the items not included.

Contact
For additional information call Carol Smid at (708) 209-3024. Please feel free to duplicate the form for multiple registrations.

Lectures presenters

David W. Music is professor of church music in the School of Music at Baylor University where he has taught since 2002. Music is the author of Christian Hymnody in Twentieth-Century Britain and America: An Annotated Bibliography and Hymnology: A Collection of Source Readings. He served as the editor of The Hymn, and has published anthems, service music, hymn texts and tunes, and music for organ, piano and handbells. He holds degrees from Southwestern Baptist Seminary, California Baptist College and the University of Virginia.

K. Lee Scott is an internationally known teacher, musician, conductor and composer of sacred music, choral music and hymns. He has published over 300 compositions through more than a dozen publishers and his hymns are published in eight hymnals. Scott holds two degrees in choral music from the School of Music of the University of Alabama, where he has also served on the faculty. Scott’s original hymn, The Tree of Life, has become one of the important hymn settings of our time.

Timothy Albrecht is professor of music at Emory University’s Graduate School of Arts and Sciences and the Candler School of Theology where he heads the graduate organ degree program. He holds degrees from Oberlin Conservatory, Oberlin College and The Eastman School of Music. His recitals span Alaska to the Andes, Chicago to China, and he has taught at Julliard and in England and Europe. Augsburg Fortress has published twelve volumes of organ compositions entitled Grace Notes.

Beth Burns is executive director of Lutheran Music Program, joining the organization in 2007. She has more than 20 years’ experience in arts administration, including nine years at the Guthrie Theater (Minneapolis), where she oversaw touring, education, and advocacy programs. She is a member of the Minnesota Citizens for the Arts board of directors and a founding board member of the Minnesota Music Coalition and has served as a senior advisor to the National Endowment for the Arts. A 1991 graduate of St. Olaf College, Burns has music training in French horn, piano, and voice.

Janet Muth has served as cantor of Memorial Lutheran Church and School for 10 of her 25 years of professional service to the church. She teaches general music classes and directs the elementary orchestra, handbell choirs for children and adults, and brass choir and adult choir for the church. She holds a bachelor’s degree from Concordia College, Portland, and a master’s degree in organ performance and church music from Indiana University. Muth has served the LCMS as a member of the Commission on Worship and the Hymnody Committee of the Synod’s new hymnal, Lutheran Service Book.
